		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> How can SCYAP provide services? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Based on the current service array, the South Carolina Youth Advocate Program (SCYAP) is only eligible to provide non-center-based respite. However, all waiver providers must be Medicaid providers and appear on the Qualified Provider List (QPL). SCDHHS oversees Medicaid provider enrollment. The QPL is maintained by the COC.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Will children and youth in foster care who are enrolled in this waiver be moved to fee for service Medicaid if they are in managed care at the time of entry into the waiver? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Children and youth in state custody are not eligible for services in the Palmetto Coordinated System of Care (PCSC) waiver at this time. Children in the custody of their parent/guardian will be moved to fee-for-service (FFS) if they are in managed care at the time of entry into the waiver.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Respite services for children and youth with significant behavioral health needs are very challenging to secure in South Carolina. What is DHHS' plan to recruit, train, and retain respite providers? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Initially, respite will be provided by individuals on the state's most recent QPL. These individuals presently provide respite services to youth served by the COC. In April 2019, the Respite Workgroup reconvened to discuss respite provider capacity and recruitment, training content and reimbursement strategies.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> How does the respite rate in the waiver compare to respite rates for other populations that may not be as challenging? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The PCSC waiver respite rate is comparable to the waiver respite rate in other SCDHHS waivers. An amendment may be submitted to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) to address any changes in the rates for waiver services.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If DHHS is unable to secure an adequate array of respite providers, will DHHS consider re-evaluating the respite rate? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Respite workgroup intends to broaden its efforts to identify alternative respite resources to supplement services provided by Medicaid providers. Any changes to waiver rates will require the submission of a waiver amendment to CMS.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Since individuals can only be on one waiver at a time, does a child or young adult have to give up the ID/RD, HASCI or CS waiver they might be on to receive these services? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Participants can only be enrolled in one waiver at a time. To be eligible for the PCSC waiver, applicants must meet target criteria, including level of care. The applicant and guardian, if applicable, is made aware of policies prohibiting enrollment in programs subject to potential duplication of payment for services. The applicant and guardian must sign a consent form acknowledging this understanding before waiver enrollment is approved.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> What happens when he or she ages out of Palmetto Pathways – does he or she go to bottom of DDSN waiting list? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Six months prior to a participant reaching age 21 the PCSC waiver transition process is initiated. The participant’s child and family team work with the family to ensure a formal transition plan with action steps and identified transitional services. Enrollment procedures for the South Carolina Department of Disabilities and Special Needs (DDSN) services are separate, distinct and outside of the scope of the PCSC waiver.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> If he/she at some point before age 21 “chooses” the ID/RD, HASCI or CS waiver, he/she no longer needs these “High Fidelity” services??? His or her needs can then be met by a DDSN case manager allowed to bill less than $200 a month? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> When an applicant chooses waiver enrollment, a Wrap facilitator will be assigned to guide the child and family team in the development of an individualized service plan (ISP). Service providers will be selected to meet the identified need on the ISP. DDSN case management services are outside of the scope of the PCSC waiver.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Do these children and young adults just get placed in “high management” homes like Mentor operates when they age out or no longer can be served at home. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Generally speaking, a transition plan is developed by the child and family team for all waiver participants. The plan is developed six months prior to the participant’s 21st birthday or in accordance with the participant’s goal attainment. The plan identifies action steps and transitional services designed to meet the participant’s individualized needs.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Why are these “High Fidelity” services not covered by EPSDT? EPSDT has to provide whatever service is needed, whether or not it is a State Plan service. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> All individuals under the age of 21 meeting medical necessity and criteria for HFW are eligible to receive the service.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Why has DHHS elected to allow for only one provider in this waiver? Looks to me like there have been problems with this provider? So, why is DHHS limiting the choice to this one provider? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> SCDHHS can only contract with HFW providers certified by the National Wraparound Implementation Center partners. The (COC) is the only entity in the state that meets these qualifications.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Looks to me like what is being provided is what DDSN case managers are doing. So, why are these case managers paid over $9,000 a year per participant, when DDSN case managers are paid a fraction of that amount? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Costs associated with waiver HFW is comparative to other states with similar programs. DDSN case management is outside of the scope of the PCSC waiver.
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Are “High Fidelity” case managers paid when they travel to meet with participants and/or their families? If they are paid to travel to these meetings, why does DHHS exclude travel time for DDSN case managers? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reimbursement for the HFW service includes travel. This is consistent with other programs in other states. Reimbursement for DDSN case managers is outside of the scope of the PCSC waiver.

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> I have found it to be impossible to find providers of DDSN behavior support services who will provide services to waiver participants in the home. Perhaps a significant factor in the rise of these unmanageable children and young adults is that DDSN slashed the number of providers of behavior support services to waiver participants living at home. How many behavior support providers were on the DDSN qualified list ten years ago, and how many are there now? Another factor is that the rate for behavior support providers has not increased, I believe, in the past ten years. Why have this waiver and these issues not been discussed at DDSN Commission meetings, given the high number of dually diagnosed children and young adults? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> DDSN provider capacity and reimbursement structure is outside of the scope of the PCSC waiver. The agenda at the DDSN Commission meetings is beyond the scope of the PCSC waiver.
