Week 1: ask providers to do screens
Week 2: show data and remind providers
Week 3: Give up on providers and ask clinical assistants
Week 4: Ask Front Desk
Week 5: Look at billing etc etc etc....

Special Recipe for Integrating MCHATs and Developmental Screens

- Do not count on providers to remember
- Do count on front desk or clinical assistant to remember to administer screen
- Have clinical assistant make sure provider sees screen
- Rely on clinical assistant to bill for screen (DO NOT RELY ON PROVIDERS!)
- Show providers financial statistics for extra $ brought in by developmental and autism screens

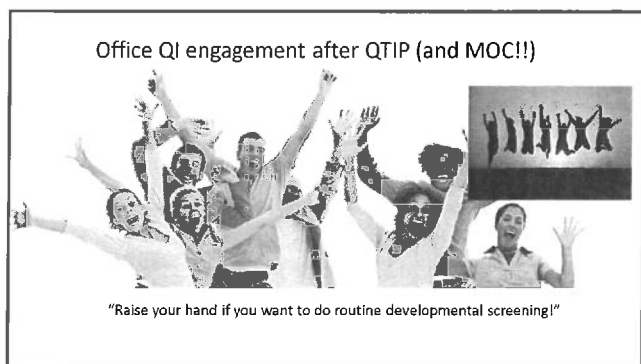

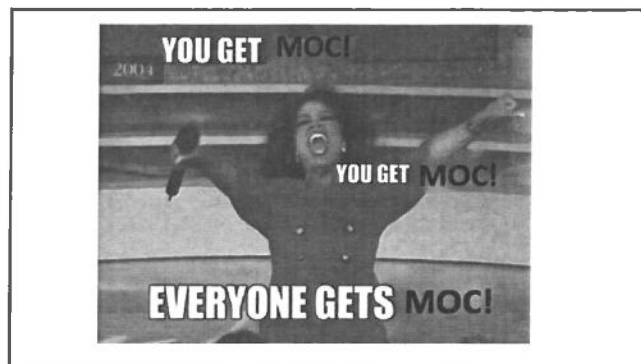

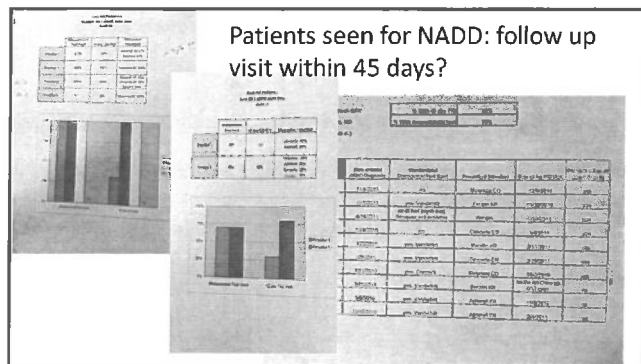

Screenings

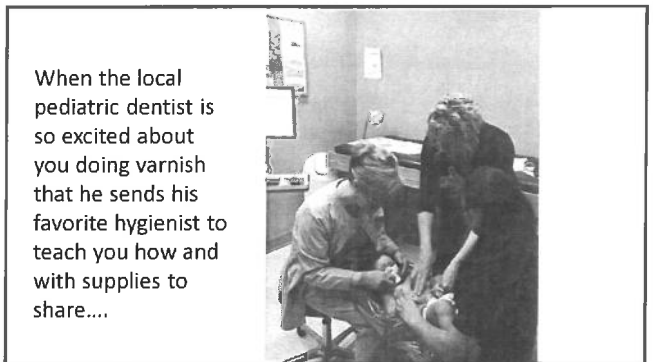

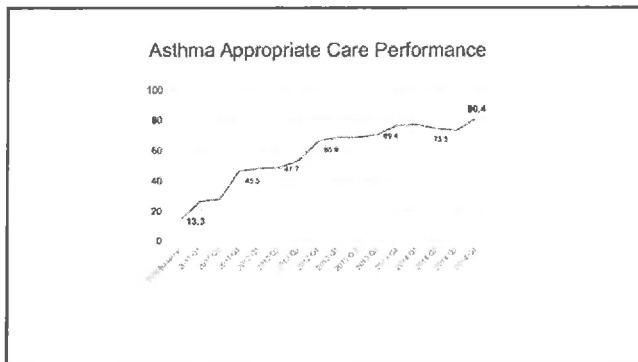

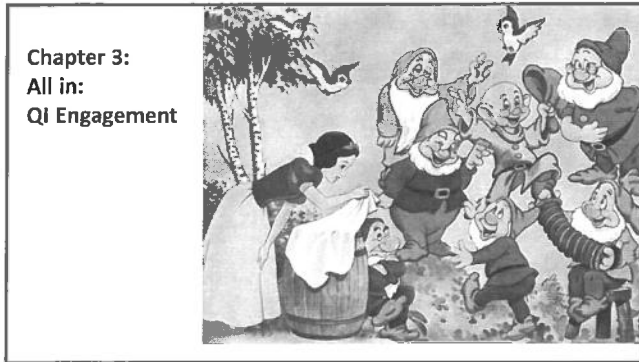

2010: ZERO developmental screening done/
billed
2014: 2,567 screening codes in Rock Hill
1330 in the Fort Mill Office—
= 3897 total

This brought in an additional $27, 279
(and improved our care)
(enough to help pay a part time counselor?)

Chapter 5: The Bad Guys
Aren't So Bad

Lessons from QTIP

- Being great at the wrong things does not help your patients.
- It is not enough to want change: you have to have a plan for change: PDSA Cycles are better than Hamster wheels
- The bad guys are not so bad and sometimes turn out to be good guys.
- It seems much less impossible when you hear or see how another real life practice actually did it, and did it well.
- Pick up the phone. Get out of the office. As Mr. Rogers would say "who are the people in your neighborhood?"
- Be not afraid. Take a nibble of the QTIP the apple.
