Online Resources: Telling Your QTIP Story

Elizabeth Parham, IT Technician
January 2017 QTIP Learning Collaborative
January 21, 2017

We want you to tell us your story!

“Stories have power. They delight, enchant, touch, teach, recall, inspire, motivate, challenge. They help us understand. They imprint a picture on our minds. Want to make a point or raise an issue? Tell a story.”
-Janet Litherland (author)

The QTIP Blog

6

QTIP Blog Sign-Up

- First, if you haven't already done so, get together with your practice team at our Learning Collaborative and complete a blog sign-up sheet (I will provide). Return the sheet to me prior to your departure.

7

QTIP Blog Sign-Up

I will set up your user account for the blog based on the information you provided in the week following the Learning Collaborative, and I will send you your username and default password via email, so be on the lookout!

8

QTIP Blog Access

Once you've received your username and password via email, navigate to the QTIP blog (<https://msp.scdhhs.gov/chipraqtip>). You will see the login screen below:

Enter your username and password in the required fields. Note that once you have successfully logged in for the first time that you may change your password from the default to a value that only you know.

9

QTIP Blog

You have done it. Now that you are logged in, you should see the homepage for the blog. The layout is a typical blog interface, with the most recently posted entries at the top, along with their comments:

10

QTIP Blog

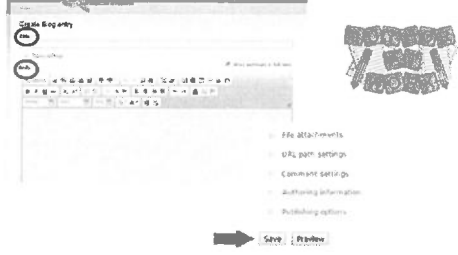

To start a new blog post, navigate to the menu on the left sidebar and select Create content > Blog entry.

11

QTIP Blog

From there, fill in the Title and Body fields with the content you wish to post. Select Save when you have finished, and you are done!

Click on the title of a blog post to view the entire entry. From here, you can add a new comment if you wish to join in on the conversation.

Psychiatric Consultation Sblf Available Like Dislike Track Down

Tue 2017-07-14 08:21 ~ Andrea Hubbs

Hi! to All,
 Just a reminder that Dr. Khudab, Child Psychiatrist, is still available to see QTIP practices (See below for details). She asked that I share this with you. "How to write a suicide risk assessment that is clinically sound and legally defensible." <http://www.courtsandchildren.com/index.php?id=224&title=the+suicide+risk+assessment+that+is+clinically+sound+and+legally+defensible>"

Dr. Khudab cannot provide any direct services, as that is not within the scope of our grant. However, she can consult on requests; you may want to find your own psychiatrist to determine the next step of treatment. Dr. Khudab directly, you can call her directly at 803.622.8742. She said you can leave a message with no direct information such as "QTIP program" and she will be contact, please contact me at "I need to be sufficient and she will call you back at her earliest convenience". She can also be reached via email at ahubbs@scdhhs.gov or on com. But has had hearing her will be faster.
