QIDA FYIs

Cycle 1 is due Aug. 31.

Review the questions as a team.

If you cannot pull requested charts, let us know ASAP so we can work together to find the best course of action.

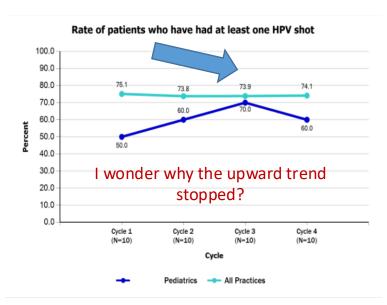

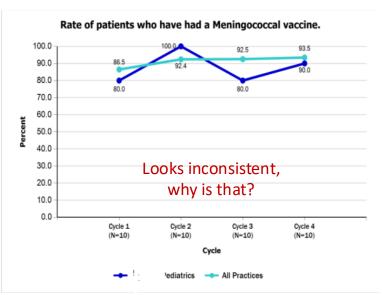

QIDA excel sheet will be sent via email with copy of questions on Monday, Aug. 11.

Using QIDA to develop a QIproject

- QIDA can show you where you have the most room for the most improvement, where you could benefit to take a deeper dive and initiate a QI project.
- QIDA isn't a competition or and exam, it is a tool to let you see where you can make big strides.

Mental Health for the Fall

STABILIZATION COMPONENT 3

Affect Modulation & Regulation

It's normal to experience uncomfortable emotions (sadness, fear, anger, nervousness). But if a patient lacks basic skills to identify and manage difficult emotions, negative coping behaviors develop instead.

All trainings are on Tuesdays!
7:30AM	12:30PM
8/26		9/23
9/2	CDM	9/30
9/16	6PM	10/7
	10/7

This training gives you 5-minute CBT-based tools to use during patient appointments and homework assignments for patients to complete independently or with a caregiver. Your patients will learn how to identify tough emotions, express them, and use cognitive tools to regulate them.

This Weekend and Beyond

Why This Weekend Matters

It is an opportunity to pause, reflect and realign.

We're introducing tiers, not to divide but to support teams where you are.

"This is a time to take stock of what works, learn from each other and get re-energized for the year ahead."
